

EDUCATING MATTERS

"Parents are a child's first and most important teacher"

FATHERHOOD MATTERS:

CELEBRATING MODERN DADS

FATHERS DISCUSS:

---

- What is unique about the role of a father
  - Breaking stereotypes around gender & parenting
  - How can the workplace be more inclusive for dads
  - How has the pandemic impacted this conversation
-

ELLIOTT RAE - MUSIC FOOTBALL FATHERHOOD

Founder of MFF, a community that celebrates open conversations about fatherhood and is a parenting & lifestyle platform for men. Elliott is also a Diversity & Inclusion specialist.

HAN-SON LEE - DADDILIFE

Han-Son founded 'Daddilife' which is a supportive community for the modern day dad. He also ran fascinating research projects such as: The Dad Index, The Millennial Dad at Work & Dads in Lockdown.

MICHAEL RAY - SOLO DAD

Michael speaks about his insights from his personal journey raising his daughter and the profound impact being a solo dad has had on his outlook. He conveys his important message to organisations and individuals, brimming with concrete, actionable research and guidance.

---

IN CONVERSATION WITH RACHEL VECHT

Rachel is a former primary school teacher and mother of four. In 2001 she founded 'Educating Matters' working closely with D&I, HR teams & internal networks to support and enhance the wellbeing of employees. Educating Matters cover a very broad range of topics, working across different sectors and engaging tens of thousands of people globally, with a particular focus on supporting parents & carers.

Rachel passionately believes that we need true equalisation for fathers. She strives to help workplaces create more inclusive cultures for working dads.

2nd December 11:00 – 12:00

Free Webinar: Register here in advance